Representative Project Experience

- A consortium of news media outlets, searching for potential election fraud, requested complete forensic analysis on Florida Secretary of State Katherine Harris' office computers. With portable server, mirror imaged 4 hard drives onsite. Conducted full forensic analysis of data readily accessible and recovered deleted data. Analyzed drive for partial or overwritten files. Completed analysis in approximately 20 hours. Searched across all data for documents containing 91 key words within certain date limitations. Produced specific data for clients on 48 CD's. Participated in press conferences and conference calls to explain the data.

- Analyzed images from nine hard drives. Prepared detailed expert report for presentation in Federal Court. Case involved former employee hacking into company's system after departure. Involved analyzing drives from both the company and the suspected hacker. Based in large part on Kroll Ontrack's assistance, client was given a directed verdict. Case was presented for possible Federal criminal prosecution and the report was forwarded to the Federal prosecutor's office. Have been requested by the Federal Prosecutor's office to assist in further analysis and likely testimony in the criminal case.
- Assisted client by reviewing opposing party's expert testimony. Provided testimony and documentation to refute opposing party's expert opinions. This computer forensics consultation, among other things, helped the client to reach a favorable, six-figure verdict.
- Aid in planning case strategy, forming deposition and interrogatory questions, and evaluating opposing party's electronic evidence.
- Worked in cooperation with US and Cuban governments to assist in examining several computers that were involved in an international child kidnapping case. Traveled to Cuba to exchange data with Cuban authorities for their prosecution of the offending party.
- Traveled to Grand Cayman to image and analyze approximately 35 computers involved in a construction project dispute. Analysis showed that the majority, if not all of the computers were reformatted in the week prior to arrival. Data recovery efforts were successful in producing a large majority of the original data that was on the computers prior to the reformatting and reinstall of the Operating Systems.

Case involved disk alteration, date manipulation and evidence spoliation. Analysis showed that AutoCAD drawings had been modified and that the times and dates were manipulated in an attempt to have drawings appear to have been made years earlier than when they were actually done. Also determined that there was attempted evidence destruction within the 10 day time period before the hearing. Also documented the amount of data that was likely overwritten or destroyed due to the continued use. Case further involved detailed analysis and comparisons of various email programs and their output. Finally, the case entailed analyzing data from four hard drives, three copies of the same hard drives that the defendant had imaged a month earlier, and a backup tape of the server that contained the emails for two of the three parties being investigated.
